MR2D MEDIA LAUNCHES NEW PODCAST THROUGH BLACK EYES: UNFILTERED

FEATURING EDUCATORS, ACTIVISTS, AND BROTHERS: DR. MARVIN DUNN
AND DR. RAYMOND DUNN, SR., MODERATED BY TOMEKA NAPPER

MIAMI, FL, February 12, 2019/ - MR2D Media LLC, founded by Raymond Dunn, Jr., has launched Through Black Eyes: Unfiltered a new weekly audio/video podcast series about the untold truth of Florida's racist past and present, moderated by Ms. Tomeka C. Napper. The podcast features experts and legendary brothers, Dr. Marvin Dunn and Dr. Raymond Dunn, Sr., having an unfiltered discussion about Southern Black History the way they see it, to remind listeners young and old that events of the past are still happening. "Our listeners are in for an engaging dialogue with our podcast sibling stars on Florida's black history and their honesty is invigorating," says Ms. Napper.

"We dig deep into the underbelly of Florida history, disgorging untold stories that should never be forgotten," says, Dr. Marvin Dunn, Dunn Brother, Educator, Historian, and Author.

In the first episode of Through Black Eyes: Unfiltered (available now), listeners and viewers will get an introductory look into who the Dunn Brothers are, and why this type of podcast is needed now - in Florida's current political climate. Future episodes cover a range of topics including Rosewood, Arthur McDuffie, Riots in Miami in the 1980s, Harry T. Moore, High Sheriffs, the Civil Rights Movement in Florida, Tallahassee Sit-ins, Negro Wade-ins that helped to establish the first negro beach in Miami, and more. In addition, special guests include former Dade County Police Officer and Public Affairs Spokesperson, Major Lonnie Lawrence, along with Delores Davis Hills and Carolyn Reeds Abrams, former Florida A&M University students and classmates of Dr. Raymond Dunn, Sr.

"The unfiltered truth may make some uncomfortable and others angry, but it must be told", says Dr. Raymond Dunn, Sr., Dunn Brother, Educator, Historian, and Author.

Partnering up with Sugarcane Global Media to bring this vision forth, MR2D Media believes through this podcast the expert knowledge, resources, and real-life experiences of both brothers as educators, activists, and historians will teach and guide future generations to continue the path of healing and change in the black community and to never forget history. "The reason I am doing this podcast with my Dad and my Uncle is because they have the perfect platform to make this podcast happen and be successful," says Raymond Dunn, Jr., Podcast Creator and President of MR2D Media, LLC.
